DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Regarding claims 1-12, the phrase "more particularly" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kawan, US Pub. 2002/006512.

Kawan discloses a method and system for tracking smart points comprising: a housing 124 wherein is accommodated a radio-frequency contactless communication station having an antenna for communicating electromagnetically in a remote manner with a data medium (see par. 0008) carried by a user, said housing having a communication area close to the antenna which is permeable to electromagnetic waves (when radio transceiver is used), the user being required to bring the data medium close to the communication area to enable communication between the station and said medium, wherein the communication area comprises an external surface 136 inclined to a horizontal plane, said communication surface co-operating with means for holding the data medium against the communication surface (see figs. 3-4 and par. 0022-0026).

Re claim 2, wherein the holding means have a lower transverse retaining surface that extends forward globally perpendicularly from the bottom of the communication surface to prevent the data medium sliding downward (see fig. 3).

Re claim 3, wherein the communication surface cooperates with a transverse rim that extends longitudinally and perpendicularly from the communication surface and whose upper face forms the lower retaining surface (see fig. 3).

Re claim 4, wherein the communication surface is slightly inclined relative to a vertical plane so that the data medium is held pressed against the communication surface by its own weight (see fig. 3).

Re claim 5, wherein the holding means include two parallel lateral uprights that project from the communication surface and extend perpendicularly upward from each of the edges of the retaining surface, the uprights being spaced by a distance globally equal to a transverse dimension of the data medium to delimit, with the retaining surface, a receiving location intended to receive the data medium and encompassing at least a portion of the communication surface (see figs. 1, 3, 6, and 10).

Re claim 6, wherein said device includes means for preventing objects significantly more bulky than the data medium from being placed on the retaining surface (see fig. 6).

Re claim 7, wherein the retaining surface has a longitudinal width globally equal to the longitudinal thickness of the data medium.

Re claims 8-12, the structure of Kawan meets the claims language as written.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patent No. 5,221,838; 5,563,393; and 5,748,737.
